

Step 6: Editing the final Zip videos

Once the deadline to contribute videos is over, and you received enough video contributions from others, it is time to finalise the video.

The app Zipstrr is collecting all the zip videos for you. You will find them once you click on Role – Director and click on the video you are producing. The app then can automatically zip all the videos into one (that's why it is called zipstrr). You also have a say and can choose which videos should go in which order. In case you receive a video which is not fitting for different reasons you can also choose to leave this video out.

Click to access all the zips/videos

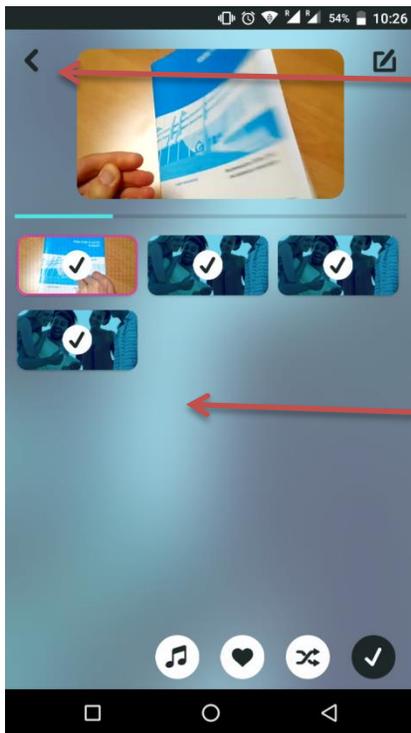

All recorded videos will appear in the central part of the app. You can view them by clicking on them

You can shuffle the order of the videos and the app makes a proposal. If you prefer you can also yourself arrange the order of the videos. To do this, press, hold and move the video to the position which you would like it to be at.

*If you find some videos that are not appropriate or not in the same quality, you can decide not to use them by clicking on this button. Then you can check / mark the videos you want to use and uncheck the videos you do not want to use

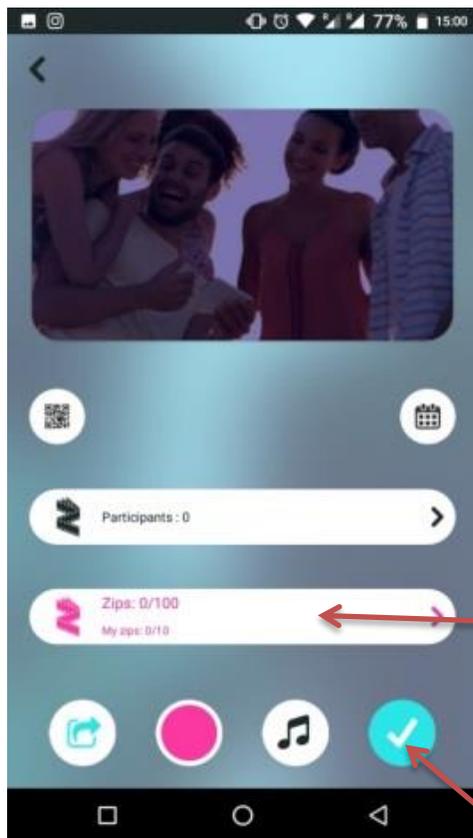

There is an option of adding music. Please be aware that by adding music the sound of the people talking will be lower and you might not be able to hear them

*when you click ✓ this will show up

When you finish checking, click here and you'll go back to the first screen in this step

Click ✓ for the videos you don't want

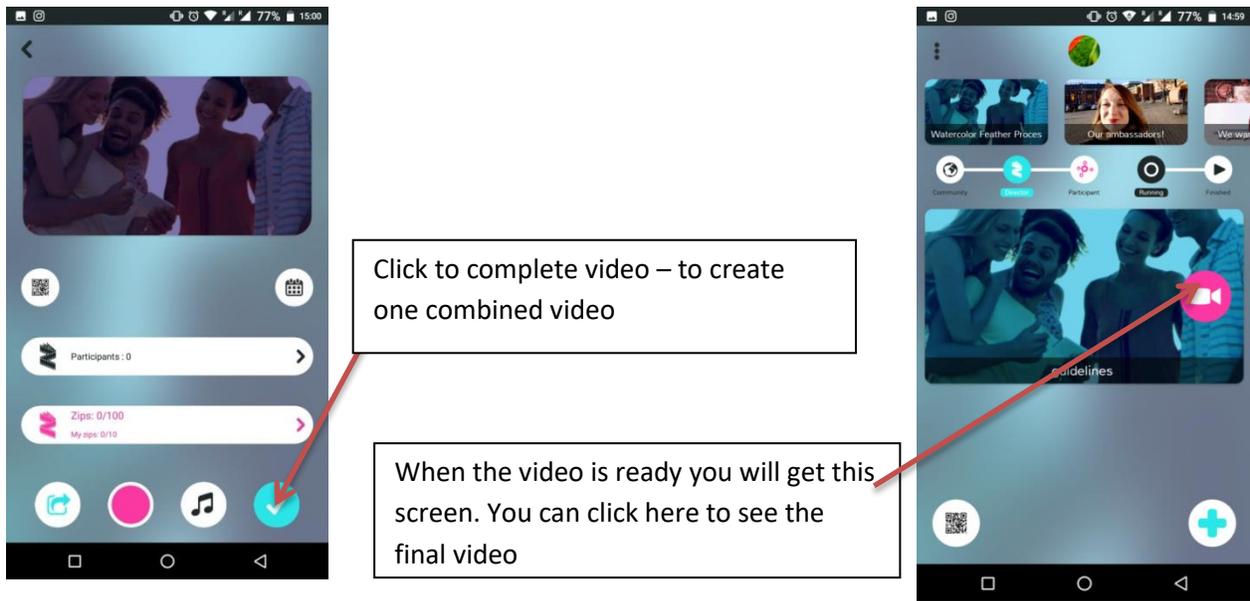

If you want to edit further you can go back to videos by clicking here, and it will show you only videos that you marked with ✓

If you are finished with editing, click here to complete your video and follow the instructions for step 7

Step 7: Completing, downloading and sharing the video

Once you have all the videos ready, you can ask the app to complete the video (zip all the videos together). This you can do by clicking on the button as indicated.

Now it's time to share the video. You can share it directly or download it and share it on other social media. Our proposal is to share it on the Facebook page of your national campaign and also to send it to us so we can share it on the official No Hate Speech Facebook page. Some might want to share the video on Youtube or Instagram and this is also possible.

When you share the video please do not forget to add the hashtag #LoveHumanRights
